Resources and Opportunities

Provided by the Urban Indian Health Institute
A Division of the Seattle Indian Health Board

April 1, 2013

This e-mail is provided by the Urban Indian Health Institute, a division of the Seattle Indian Health Board. It contains opportunities for staff development, grant announcements and other relevant public health information. We hope you find these resources useful. If you have any questions about the information below, or you are unable to open any of the links, please contact info@uihi.org. If this e-mail was forwarded to you, you may sign up here.

Funding Opportunity

Innovative Approaches to Improve Community Health Grants

The Kresge Foundation supports promising new practices that serve vulnerable populations by advancing prevention, improving access and integrating primary community and clinical care. The Foundation looks for efforts that foster connections between clinical health care and community health, integrating patient care with activities to recognize and "treat" the social and environmental factors that contribute to poor health.

More information about the Innovative Approaches to Improve Community Health Grants
Conference

College Board Native American Student Advocacy Institute Conference

The College Board presents the Native American Student Advocacy Institute (NASAI) Conference, which will discuss new solutions, share best practices and collaborate with colleagues to make a difference for the Native American students who count on us to help them succeed. This year's conference theme is "Powerful, Practical, Promising Ideas for Success." Attendees of the conference will establish and renew connections with educators, learn about ideas and programs that provide opportunities for AI/AN students and collaborate with other professionals to foster actionable ideas.

May 30-31, 2013
University of Montana

More information about the NASAI Conference can be found online.

Resource

National Resource Center for HIV/AIDS Prevention Among Adolescents

The National Resource Center for HIV/AIDS Prevention among Adolescents supports adolescent service providers (i.e., organizations that work with teens, such as community health educators or clinicians) by providing web-based resources, evidence-based program information, and links to training and technical assistance to help prevent HIV/AIDS among adolescents, in particular adolescents from minority and high risk populations.

More information about the National Resource Center for HIV/AIDS Prevention among Adolescents can be found online.

More reports, resources and other information can be found on the UIHI website, www.uihi.org

Urban Indian Health Institute
Seattle Indian Health Board
PO Box 3364
Seattle, Washington 98114
(206) 812-3030