This e-mail is provided by the Urban Indian Health Institute, a division of the Seattle Indian Health Board. It contains opportunities for staff development, grant announcements and other relevant public health information. We hope you find these resources useful. If you have any questions about the information below, or you are unable to open any of the links, please contact info@uihi.org. If this e-mail was forwarded to you, you may sign up here.

Conference

Community-Campus Partnerships for Health Conference and Call for Proposals

The Community-Campus Partnerships for Health (CCPH) invites you to share your knowledge, wisdom and experience. Submit a proposal for a session or poster presentation at CCPH's next conference. The conference theme is "From Rhetoric to Reality: Achieving Authentic, Equitable & Transformative Partnerships.” Proposals for skill-building workshops, creative arts sessions, stories, roundtable discussions and posters that advance the conference theme and align with the conference topics are welcome.

Call for Proposals Deadline: September 30, 2013

From Rhetoric to Reality:
Achieving Authentic, Equitable & Transformative Partnerships
April 30, 2014 - May 3, 2014
Chicago, IL

More information about the CCPH conference and the call for proposals can be found online.

---

Announcement

Opportunity for Public Comment: Traumatic Injury Research and Prevention Program and Strategic Goals

The Federal Register published an opportunity for public comment on the draft document National Institute for Occupational Safety and Health (NIOSH) Traumatic Injury Research and Prevention Program and Strategic Goals. The document includes revisions to program strategic goals last updated in 2009. The Strategic Goals were revised in response to recommendations from a National Academies review of the program. The draft strategic goals are intended to guide NIOSH's intramural and extramural research for the 5-year period, 2014-2019. NIOSH is seeking comments from extramural researchers and stakeholders.

Deadline for Public Comment: September 16, 2013

Public comments can be submitted online by visiting the following website and entering the CDC-2013-0009 into the search bar: http://www.regulations.gov/#!/home

---

Resources

National Healthcare Quality and Disparities Reports

The Agency for Healthcare Research and Quality has produced the National Healthcare Quality Report and the National Healthcare Disparities Report. These reports measure trends in effectiveness of care, patient safety, timeliness of care, patient centeredness and efficiency of care. These reports present the latest available findings on quality of and access to health care.

More information about the National Healthcare Quality and Disparities Reports can be found online.

---

Masters in Public Health Resource

The Online Masters in Public Health website is a resource designed to help answer the questions of students considering a master's degree in public health. There are many questions to answer before taking your next step toward this valuable graduate education, and the site can help take the guesswork out of your research process. For example, you'll find a detailed student's guide to the numerous specialty concentrations in the field of public health, and substantial information about potential careers to pursue after graduation. The Online Masters in Public Health site is also equipped to help you sort through an extensive scholarship directory geared toward Master's level public health students at both online and traditional brick-and-mortar schools.

More information about the Online Masters in Public Health website can be found online.

More reports, resources and other information can be found on the UIHI website, www.uihi.org