May 5, 2014

This email is provided by the Urban Indian Health Institute, a division of the Seattle Indian Health Board. It contains opportunities for staff development, grant announcements and other relevant public health information. We hope you find these resources useful. If you have any questions about the information below, or you are unable to open any of the links, please contact info@uihi.org. If this email was forwarded to you, you may sign up here.

Announcements

Employment Opportunity: Seattle Indian Health Board Executive Director

The Seattle Indian Health Board Urban Indian Health Organization is hiring an Executive Director (ED). The ED is an inspiring leader who works with the Board, staff, volunteers and the community to lead the organization in the realization of its Vision and Mission. In partnership with the Board of Directors, the ED is responsible for the strategic direction of the SIHB. The ED is the chief spokesperson for the SIHB, with a strong focus on advocacy, communications and relationship building. The ED is ultimately responsible for management and administration, finance and operations, planning, donor cultivation and fund development.

Application Deadline: June 30, 2014

Find more information about the Seattle Indian Health Board Executive Director Employment Opportunity online.

---

National Women’s Health Week and Checkup Day

National Women's Health Week (May 11-17, 2014) and National Women's Checkup Day (May 12, 2014) provide communities, stakeholders and health care providers with the opportunity to focus on women's mental and physical health concerns. To help women live longer, healthier lives and reduce the risk for certain diseases, providers and communities can promote:

- Regular checkups and preventive screenings
- Physical activity
- Healthy eating
- Improving mental health
- Avoiding risky behaviors (i.e., smoking, not wearing a seatbelt)

Factsheets, events and activity planning resources can be found on the National Women's Health Week webpage of WomensHealth.gov. Materials are also available on the Spread the Word webpage to make it easy for people to share information about National Women's Health Week with friends, family and colleagues, including pre-developed Facebook posts and Tweets, newsletter text and web badges.

The UIHI offers a variety of resources to promote women's health. The Colon and Rectal Education and Screening (C.A.R.E.S) project materials are customized for women’s health and promote colon cancer screening and awareness through fact sheets, screening promotion materials and communication material templates that can be modified to fit the needs of your region or population. The WEAVING Project materials are intended to help increase the number of urban AI/AN women receiving breast and cervical cancer screening services. These materials include a variety of reports that highlight successful programs and a survey of screening services available at UIHOs, and strategies to promote outreach and program development.

Use these resources and empower women to improve their mental and physical health during National Women’s Health Week.

---

Employment Opportunity: Centers for Disease Control Director of Tribal Support Unit

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), Office for State, Tribal, Local and Territorial Support (OSTLTS) plays a key role in helping health agencies enhance their capacity and improve their performance to strengthen the national public health system on all levels. The OSTLTS is currently seeking exceptional candidates for the position of Director of the Tribal Support Unit. The position requires knowledge of the unique and complex cultural, environmental, social, economic, political and other interrelated factors that affect the health of AI/AN populations.
Application Deadline: May 12, 2014

Find more information about the CDC Tribal Support Unit Director position online.

Training

How Positive Youth Development Offers Promise for Teen Health and Teen Pregnancy Prevention Webinar

May is Teen Pregnancy Prevention Month. In observance, the Office of Adolescent Health is hosting a live webcast on positive youth development. The webinar will focus on the research behind positive youth development, how community programs have been using positive youth development and future interventions.

May 7, 2014 2:00 p.m. - 3:00 p.m. (Eastern Time)

Find more information about the Positive Youth Development for Teen Pregnancy Prevention Webinar online.

Find more reports, resources and other information on the UIHI website, www.uihi.org