

Urban Indian Health Institute

BRANCH Community Grants Program

2017-2018: An Indigenous Approach to Diabetes Education, Prevention, and Management

Frequently Asked Questions

Question: Are award recipients eligible for multi-year funding?

Answer: Annual funding cycles have a unique chronic disease focus area with a separate application and approval process. Applicants can apply and be awarded funds for multiple funding cycles. No more than one award will be granted per organization within a single funding cycle. Annual funding opportunities will be available until 2022.

Question: What is the allowable indirect cost rate?

Answer: UIHI accepts federally negotiated indirect cost rates of up to 30 percent.

Question: Where can I find application materials and the pre-application webinar slides?

Answer: www.uihi.org/resources/branch-community-grant-program/

Question: Could funding be used for cultural activities as they relate to chronic disease prevention programming like Pow Wows or Sweat Lodge?

Answer: Yes, if the programming is linked to chronic disease education, prevention, and management efforts and can be evaluated (with appropriate accommodations made to protect cultural knowledge).